Introduction of University

National Pingtung University of Science and Technology (NPUST) was founded in 1924 under the name of "Kaohsiung State Pingtung Extension School of Agriculture." Subsequently in 1928, this school was expanded and renamed as "Kaohsiung State Pingtung Agricultural School". After Taiwan was liberated from Japanese colonial rule in August 1945, this school again changed her name to "Taiwan Provincial Pingtung Agricultural Vocational School of Agriculture" in November of that year. This school was then upgraded to "Taiwan Provincial Institute of Agriculture" in 1954, enabling a subsequent integration of this Institute with the Pingtung Agricultural Vocational High School in 1963. After this integration, the Institute went through a series of upgrades and name changes, including "Taiwan Provincial Pingtung Institute of Agriculture" in 1964, "National Pingtung Institute of Agriculture" in July 1981, "National Pingtung Polytechnic Institute" in July 1991, and then the "National Pingtung University of Science and Technology" in August 1997. Currently NPUST has a total of 27 departments and 10 graduate institutes offering 7 Doctoral programs. These departments and graduate institutes are distributed among four colleges: agriculture, engineering, management, and humanities and social sciences.

NPUST's undergraduate school currently offers baccalaureate degrees to graduates of a four-year program and a two-year program. The four-year program admits its students graduating from vocational high schools or their equivalents, while the two-year program admits students graduating from vocational institutes and their equivalents. NPUST has also established a night school to admit students with at least one year's work experience.

NPUST's graduate school offers master and doctoral degrees in more than thirty disciplines that cover the Colleges of Agriculture, Engineering, Management, as well as Humanities and Social Science. A candidate to a master's degree requires a bachelor's degree in a related field; whereas, the doctoral degree is offered to researchers and professionals with a master's degree from any university. Graduate programs at NPUST also provide opportunity of part-time study during weekends for those with at least one-year work experience while holding current job active.

Moving towards specialized research university, NPUST actively pursues her academic excellence to become one of the key academic bastions in the Asia-Pacific Region. In addition to offering lectures in Chinese, NPUST also offers 106 credit hours of courses in English. In positioning herself to become one of the world's leading academic institutions, NPUST established linkage with more than 30 world renowned universities through various academic exchanges, distance education, exchanges of faculty and students, sharing of resources, and jointly conducting research.

The three main educational goals of NPUST are elaborated as follows:

Spiritualization – Through education, nurturing and warm caring, NPUST's students are positively influenced to develop a healthy and complete personality. NPUST's students are educated to become not only a competent professional but also a worthy member of the society with strong social responsibilities and a civilized person with fine intellectual and aesthetic tastes.

Professionalization – Constantly aware of the needs of labor markets, NPUST trains students to possess solid abilities to work, to learn and to create or invent to meet the demands of labor markets. Students are encouraged to pursue careers in scientific or technological research and development or in business management so as to enhance the promotion of industries in the nation.

Internationalization – In keeping with the trend of internationalization, NPUST's students are cultivated to acquire intellectual and aesthetic qualities enabling them to establish a strong foothold in the global community. The quality to be acquired includes improving international language ability, enhancing knowledge of international society, and understanding the development of international politics and economics. The final goal is to enable students to become more competitive internationally.
I. Introduction of Program

There will be two main areas of focus: plant and animal production. In plant production, the courses include but are not limited to: agronomic and horticultural crop production; plant protection; and agri-business management. In animal production, the courses include but are not limited to: anatomy and physiology of animals; utilization of animal products; fish breeding and propagation; and pond management.

A total of 130 credits must be completed: 36 credits required by the University, 38 credits required for specialty, 32 & 36 credits required for groups specializing in plant production & animal production, and 24 & 20 elective courses credits required for groups specializing in plant production & animal production, respectively.

II. Qualification

Citizens of Taiwan’s Central American allies or Taiwan Scholarship Recipients who are eligible for TaiwanICDF Scholarships with a senior high school or vocational high school education, or the equivalent, from institutions approved by the Ministry of Education, ROC (Taiwan), can apply for this undergraduate program.

Applicants from countries where English is not the native language are required to take the TOEFL or equivalent English-proficiency verifications.

III. Admission

- Source of Funding for the Scholarship Program

The scholarship program designed for the undergraduate students is for the period from September 2010 through July 2014, funded by the International Cooperation and Development Fund (TaiwanICDF).

- Program Duration

It is a policy of the scholarship program that the duration for the undergraduate programs is from September 2010 to July 2014. Students shall complete and successfully pass at least 130 credits within the stipulated time period, and receive the “Baccalaureate of Science” degree from the Department of Tropical Agriculture and International Cooperation, College of Agriculture. If a student fails to finish the requirements for the baccalaureate degree within the stipulated time period, said student shall be disqualified from receiving any additional financial assistance offered under the programs.

   - Anticipated results -- Stating the results that can be anticipated in conducting the action plans listed above

h. Evidence of English proficiency -- if applicants are from countries where English is not the native language.

● Notification of Admission and Registration

(1) After being reviewed and selected by the Foreign Student Application Evaluation Committee, names of the candidates will be recommended to the President of NPUST for final approval.
(2) After being notified of admission, students must complete registration procedures within the specified time. Late registration will not be accepted.
(3) If information found to be untrue or falsified, said student shall be denied of admission.
(4) After registration, students must provide an original diploma. English translation must accompany the original diploma, should it not be written in English.

● Scope of Scholarship

Entitlements: The total scholarship, including airfare (a one-way ticket each for the 1st year before the registration and the 4th year after the completion of the baccalaureate program s), housing, tuition, insurance, book costs and a monthly allowance will be provided to each student. The scholarship is itemized as follows:

(1) Airfare -- TaiwanICDF shall provide economy class tickets on the most direct flights to Taiwan (before the registration for the first semester) and leave Taiwan (after the completion of the baccalaureate degree).

(2) Housing -- All students must reside in the student dormitory provided by the NPUST. Four undergraduate students of the same sex will be assigned to live in the same room. Observation of dormitory rules is a must.

(3) Tuition fee -- Tuition fee will be paid for by the scholarship as required by the NPUST.

(4) Insurance -- While in Taiwan, in addition to the mandatory student safety insurance as set by the Ministry of Education, each student shall be insured for medical coverage of accident and necessary health care insurance (chronic illness is not including). The insurance fees will be paid for by the scholarship.

(5) Book costs -- Purchasing textbooks as required by instructors shall be subject to the approval of the Director of the TAIC.

(6) Allowance -- Each student shall receive NT$12,000 per month (or NT$144,000 per annum) as allowance for food and miscellaneous living expenses. The sum will be deposited monthly into the student’s local bank account.

● Notices

(1) Undergraduate students must complete a minimum of 130 credits in the course of study for plant production and animal production. These credits include those designated as required and optional credits.

(2) Undergraduate students program is graded on a scale of 100 being the highest and 60 being the passing grade. Required courses, if failed, must be repeated. A student, who fails two thirds of the accumulation subject credits in one semester despite for any 2 semester academically, shall be dismissed.

(3) Student’s ethic is graded on a scale of 100 being the highest and 60 being the passing grade.

(4) If scholarship holders:
   a) Fail the academic average in any one semester, which is 60 out of 100 for undergraduates; in which case, full scholarship will be suspended during the following semester. Should the academic average be achieved during this next semester, the TaiwanICDF will continue the scholarship by request; or
   b) Fail more than 1/2 of all modules that they elect to study, across two consecutive semesters; or more than 2/3 of all modules that they elect to study, in any one semester. In this case, the full scholarship will be terminated.
   c) Have their scholarship suspended or terminated, the student status will depend upon the regulation set by the university.

(5) Students who are under the scholarship program requesting a temporary leave of absence from the university on a personal basis shall be terminated their rights to the scholarship.

(6) For any reason an undergraduate student cannot attend classes or participate in other required activities, authorized leave of absence must be requested according to the university’s regulations.

(7) Students are required to work as student helps at the office of TAIC. The nature and the number of hours of the work shall all be determined by the Director of TAIC.
